

MOTHER CONFESSES POISONING THREE CHILDREN, BUT DENIES MURDER OF HER HUSBAND AND SON

Young Girl's Story Bolsters Robbery Claim

$10,000 CHECKS FOUND IN PARK BY PLAYING KIDS

Miss Hazel Wise's Statement May Prove Coleman's Story That Bandits Got $19,000.

BOND REDUCTION REQUEST DENIED

Batch of Checks and Black Bag Fished Out of Piedmont Lake by Children Playing in Park.

Assertion by Miss Hazel Wise, stenographer, who works in the Glenn building, that she saw two men enter a coupe shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at Marietta and Spring streets and recovery of a hand bag and $10,000 in checks were new developments Wednesday in the reported robbery and slugging of O. M. Coleman, youthful bank messenger.

Miss Wise's knowledge of this incident, which at first blush would seem to substantiate Coleman's story of the robbery, was discovered by a Constitution reporter, who talked with her at length Wednesday afternoon. She is the first person known to have witnessed an incident similar to the one Coleman recounted, though it is stated that W. Paul Carpenter, attorney for Coleman, claims to have the names of several others who can confirm his story.

Young Coleman Tuesday morning reported to the police that he had been held at pistol point by two highwaymen who boarded his car at the busy intersection of Spring and Marietta streets in the heart of the downtown district, and forced him to drive to a spot on Twenty-sixth street, near Peachtree road, where they slugged and robbed him of the bank funds.

Miss Wise was unable to furnish more than meager descriptions of the two men, explaining that she saw the men entering the car and paid little attention to the occurrence. Her story coincides with Coleman's statement that two handbags entered his car, compelled him to drive to the outskirts, and there slugged him and took $19,000 in cash and checks which he was conveying for the Farmers and Traders' bank to another local bank.

Children playing in Piedmont park found the batch of checks floating on the water and fished them out. Shortly afterwards the handbag in which the money was being transferred downtown also was found, weighted down with two bricks.

Lower Bond Refused.
An effort late Wednesday to obtain a reduction of Coleman's bond of $15,000 was refused by police department heads. The youth had not furnished the required bond Wednesday night and still was held in a state cell at the police station on charge of larceny after arrest.

Miss Wise, who is employed as stenographer in the offices of the Southeastern Supply company, located on the second floor of the Glenn building, stated to a Constitution reporter Wednesday afternoon that she was taking dictation at the time she saw the two men enter the coupe, and paid no more than casual attention to the affair.

"There seemed to be nothing unusual in the manner or conduct of the men as they got out of the large car and into the little coupe, and I paid but passing attention to it," Miss Wise said.

She could not fix the exact time that she witnessed this transfer of passengers from one auto to another.

COOLIDGE SHAKES HAND WITH 1,869 WITHIN 45 MINUTES

Washington, April 15.—President Coolidge has qualified as the country's champion handshaker.

He jerked 1,869 Easter tourists through the handshaking line in three-quarters of an hour Wednesday—almost one a second. This sets a handshaking record for both speed and numbers.

The president appeared to enjoy his chore and refused to permit any of his visitors to be turned away.

RAILWAY WORKERS AGREE TO PARLEY ON WAGE INCREASE

Union Employees Vote To Arbitrate Demands for Maximum Pay Boost of 9 Cents an Hour.

An agreement to arbitrate demands for increase of maximum wages paid motormen and conductors of the Street Car Men's Union from 51 cents to 60 cents an hour, has been signed by officials of Local 732, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees, it was announced Wednesday.

The local union has selected Luther Still, well-known labor leader, while the Georgia Railway & Power company has named Murphy Candler arbitrator. The two men will select a third member to compose a board of arbitration. Both Mr. Still and Mr. Candler served last year at a similar arbitration at which maximum rates were increased from 48 cents an hour to 51 cents. Edwin Johnson, member of Fulton county commissioners was the third member of the 1924 board.

Present demands also include proportional increases for all other members of the union in the employ of the power company, although it was stated that wages have been advanced from 25 cents in 1913 to 51 cents at the present time.

"Although maximum wages now are 51 cents an hour, there is a sliding scale from 43 cents to the highest earning power of the trainmen now in the employ of the company," Mr. Still stated. "For the first nine months of service trainmen are paid the minimum—43 cents, and for the next nine months—48 cents, before being advanced to the 51 cents an hour class."

"The standard of living must necessarily be low when men can earn only 43 cents an hour for their labor. We want all men to have a living wage and under the scale of present living expenses, 43 cents is not. In fact, we consider 60 cents is a nominal wage."

Wedding Unites Wealthy Families On Georgia Coast

Cumberland Island Is Scene of Carnegie-Rockefeller Ceremony.

Fernandina, Fla., April 15.—Nancy Carnegie, grand niece of the late Andrew Carnegie, and daughter of Andrew Carnegie II, and James Stillwell Rockefeller, grand nephew of John D. Rockefeller, old magnate, a son of the late William E. Rockefeller, were married late today at Dungeness, the Carnegie estate on Cumberland Island, nine miles north of here.

Newspaper men and newspaper photographers were not admitted to the house and photographs, it was reported here, had to be content with pictures of the outside of the house, the grounds and such snaps of guests as could be obtained surreptitiously.

A staff photographer from an Atlanta newspaper nearly lost his camera, witnesses who arrived here said, when H. F. Morgan, one of the guests, attempted to take the instrument from him. The photographer was said to have retained possession of his camera and to have been granted permission later to take pictures of the Carnegie home.

Plans of the bride and groom were not announced and it was not known whether they had left the island for a wedding trip or remained at the Carnegie home.

CAILLAUX OFFERED FINANCE MINISTRY UNDER M. PAINLEVE

'Defeatist' During World War Called to Paris in Government Car To Be Offered Post.

BANK SITUATION IS REGULARIZED

All Paris Agog Over Selection for High Post of Man Who Faced Gallows for Alleged Treason.

Paris, April 15.—Joseph Caillaux's acceptance of the post of minister of finance in the cabinet now being formed by Paul Painleve overshadowed all other developments in France's political crisis today.

The return to power, at the head of one of the most important ministries, of the man who five years ago was regarded as politically dead for all time, has caused varied but strong emotions in the French political world, accustomed as it is to spectacular coups and dramatic ups and downs of its statesmen.

M. Painleve, on whom devolves the task of the premiership from which Edouard Herriot was deposed, called on President Doumergue at 11 o'clock and informed him that negotiations for the constitution of a cabinet were progressing and that he would be in a position to present his ministry to the president late tomorrow afternoon.

Demand Vote of Confidence.

The ministerial declaration will be read in the chamber on Friday and a vote of confidence demanded. M. Painleve will himself take the office of foreign affairs, but beyond the appointment of M. Caillaux, the other cabinet posts have not yet been announced.

Throughout the day the coming of Caillaux had thrown all other cabinet talk into the background. There was far more discussion as to whether he had been, or was going to be, asked to take the ministry of finance, than about whether M. Briand would take the foreign office. When M. Painleve telephoned to him at Marnes this morning, M. Caillaux said he would be glad to go, but his automobile was out of order. Whereupon M. Painleve sent one of the automobiles attached to the presidency of the chamber to fetch him.

Circulation Limit Raised.
A bill authorizing the Bank of France to raise the legal limit of circulation from 41,000,000,000 to 45,000,000,000 francs and advances to the state to 26,000,000,000 francs was passed by the chamber after slight modifications by a vote of 325 to 29.

VIADUCTS PLAN LEADERS TO MEET

Three Committees in Joint Session Today To Map Initial Move in Beeler Proposal.

Mapping out of a definite plan to obtain permission of the legislature to construct viaducts over the railroad tracks at Pryor street and Central avenue, and selection of an engineer to make preliminary plans for twin bridges, in accordance with recommendations of the railroad engineers who met here on the question several weeks ago, will be taken up this afternoon at a joint meeting of Mayor Walter A. Sims' three viaduct committees. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock in the office of Reuben R. Arnold, chairman of the citizens' committee, in the Hurt building.

The committees were named following the mayor's "Let's Go" dinner at the Biltmore, at which time all three railroads affected, with the Georgia Railway and Power company, promised financial cooperation in building the viaducts.

Building of the viaducts is the first step needed to inaugurate the Beeler plan.

Thrilling Stunts Will Mark Opening of Baseball Season

BY DICK HAWKINS.
When Old Sol finishes his morning round and starts down toward the Pacific today, artisans will cease to "art," bookkeepers will cease to "keep" and even bootleggers will discontinue their "legging," for today the Crackers and Lookouts will meet in the first Atlanta game of the baseball season.

London has its coronation, Washington has its inauguration and Atlanta has its opening ball game. Therefore, when the redoubtable mentor behind the plate calls his shot for the first time in 1925 in Atlanta, the big day will sound off.

While the Jaycees are shooting at an attendance mark of 20,000 in order to beat Birmingham, Atlanta's traditional rival, all the Crackers will be shooting at the fence in an endeavor to win the $10 in gold offered for the first Cracker home run by Nick Kellin, of the Temple Soda company.

But Atlanta is not satisfied to let the opening game speak for itself and that gang of live wires known as the Junior Chamber of Commerce has planned and replanned until the festivities of the day are scheduled to be full of thrills.

When the old gong strikes 11 today Johnny Brock, Cracker catcher, will start the thrills by catching several balls thrown from the top of the Flatiron building across from the Piedmont hotel. If Johnny's lunchhooks don't lose their usual agility this feat will be worth watching and if they do it will be worth watching anyway, just to see the crowd run when the pill hits the sidewalk.

A couple of Atlanta bird men, Lane Cooper and Dick Allen by name, will shower the city with autographed baseballs bearing the signature of Cracker stars after the Johnny Brock stunt is over. These balls will be attached to parachutes to prevent injuries if one should chance to hit some innocent bystander in its descent.

And that's not the half of it. Just in case the fans have not had their fill of shivers by the time they arrive at the park, another hair-raising feat is on the list for 2:45, when Bonnie Rowe, daredevil stunt aviator, will drop from a plane into Spiller field with the sacred pill tightly clutched in his hand. If his parachute opens—if it doesn't the stunt is off—he will give the ball to Governor Clifford Walker, who in turn will throw said pill to the pitcher, thus starting the game.

As an additional attraction, Bobby

PLANES PUNCTURE BATTLESHIP BUOY IN OFFENSIVE TEST

'Impressive and Satisfactory Results Were Obtained,' According to Official Statement.

Quantico, Va., April 15.—The efficiency of aircraft operating on the offensive, with a battleship outlined by buoys on the river surface as the main objective, was tested today by marine corps aviators and pronounced by naval chiefs from Washington to be "impressive and satisfactory in results obtained."

A feature of the tests, which include bombing at 6,000 and 3,000 feet altitudes, parachute jumping, machine gun fire from the air and the laying of a smoke screen about the target, was the drill of five airplanes, flying from one formation to another and executing commands as if they had been soldiers on parade. The evolutions were directed by radio from the flying field, which at times was more than a mile away from the drilling air squadron.

At the conclusion of this exercise, in which Secretary Wilbur and Senator Frederick Hale, of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, acted alternately as drill masters, the two officials joined in saying that every order they had given from the ground station had been executed with the precision and promptness that marks only the performance of crack military organizations.

The spectators, who numbered, among others, Assistant Secretary Douglas Robinson, of the navy; Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps, and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aviation, also were enthusiastic concerning the bombing tests. While no official tabulation of the bomb hits was made, it was conceded that one of the ten dived.

Gaffney To Wed Turf Queen And Head Own Minstrel Show

BY ALBERT HARDY, JR.
"Sugarfoot" Gaffney, famous black-face comedian and Mrs. Caroline Evers, reputed wealthy Kentucky race-track owner, have purchased the Neil O'Brien minstrels and will direct the production of the show the coming season. Rumors of the approaching marriage of the couple were confirmed Wednesday night by Mr. Gaffney, now registered at the Ansley hotel.

Mr. Gaffney declined to state the day of the marriage, but declared that "it will be in the near future."

He will appear at the Forsyth theater next week, he states, and then will devote about three weeks to the vaudeville stage before going to New York, where he will prepare for the season which opens about September 1.

"Sugarfoot's" presence brings back reminiscences of clever jokes, various kinds of dancing and vaudeville songs for truly Gaffney is famous the world over as "The Knight of Burnt Cork."

TAFT MENTIONED AS NEW SCULPTOR FOR MEMORIAL

Kansas City Star Quotes Randolph as Saying Committee Has Chosen Successor to Borglum.

PRaises Work of ORIGINAL CARVER

Is Represented as Saying Borglum "Was Not Dismissed, but Withdraw by Violating Contract."

Lorado Taft, nationally famous artist, is mentioned as the probable successor to Gutzon Borglum, deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial, in an interview attributed to Hollins N. Randolph, president of the memorial association, and published yesterday by The Kansas City Star.

The Associated Press carried on its wires the substance of the interview, but later when Mr. Randolph repudiated it, ordered the dispatch "killed." The Kansas City Star, however, published the following account of the affair:

"Another sculptor has been selected to complete the Stone Mountain memorial to the Confederacy, begun by Gutzon Borglum, according to Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association, who is in Kansas City.

"I do not know the name of Mr. Borglum's successor," Mr. Randolph said, "but I have received a telegram from our sculpture committee stating that a nationally-known sculptor has been selected to proceed with the gigantic undertaking."

"In reply to inquiries concerning rumored efforts toward reconciliation between the sculptor and the association, the president stated: 'Mr. Borglum will never work on the Stone Mountain memorial again.'"

Taft May Be Named.
"One who followed Mr. Randolph's account of the situation detected a possibility of Lorado Taft leaving the sculpture destined to complete the work. In the course of the discussion he referred several times to that artist's work, though he repeated he had no knowledge of who the committee had decided upon. He said the sculptor's name would be announced in a few days."

"According to the contract between the association and the sculptor, Mr. Randolph said, Borglum has an opportunity to submit his claim for further payment for his models and designs to a mutually selected board of arbitration."

"We are bound by contract to pay him if this board decides he is entitled to further payment," Mr. Randolph said. "It was Borglum's refusal to submit our difficulties to such a board that led to all the trouble."

SIMS' CRITICISM IS UNANSWERED

Mayor's Severe Attack on School Board Fails To Draw Reply From Members of Committee.

School authorities were silent Wednesday night following an attack on the board of education by Walter A. Sims after the board's failure to raise sufficient funds to pay November salaries. Likewise, nothing could be learned on what will be the next movement of the board to secure a building for Hoke Smith junior high school.

Efforts to obtain sufficient funds for the building appeared doomed Wednesday when the mayor stated that banks previously had refused to loan the $150,000 sought unless the board provided funds for salaries throughout the year, and that in his opinion, the conditions have not been complied with.

John T. Hancock, president of the board, declined to comment on the situation other than to say that by issuing script, provision will be made to meet November payrolls and that obtaining of money for Hoke Smith school "now is entirely up to his honor, the mayor."

TAX COMMITTEE VOTE UNANIMOUS TO LOWER RATE

Merchants and Manufacturers Would Get Benefit of 35 Per Cent Under New Plan.

A substantial slash in the tax assessment on merchants and manufacturing interests, which proposes to reduce the rate from 52 1/2 to 35 per cent of gross values, was recommended unanimously by the tax committee of city council Wednesday, and will be presented for ratification of general council next Monday. Reductions would not become effective until 1926, however.

The cut was advocated provided merchants present auditors' statements of assets to the tax assessors, that returns may be made direct from financial statements.

Representatives of the Retail Merchants' association, the Georgia Manufacturers' association and the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, representing practically every merchant and manufacturing interest in the city, attended the meeting Wednesday and were unanimous in promising that the new agreement will be lived up to by their members.

Inman Leads Fight.
The proposal was introduced in council several weeks ago by Councilman Ed H. Inman, and he urged its adoption at the tax committee's session. The present basis of assessment is unfair to the merchant who makes a true return on his property, Mr. Inman said, and there is no way under

AIR PORT BOOSTERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Formation of Local Body for Passenger and Mail Service To Be Considered at Rally.

First steps to place Atlanta in the front ranks of the world's air ports will be launched tonight at a meeting of citizens to be held at 7:30 o'clock in the council chambers of City Hall.

The meeting was called by Mayor Walter A. Sims at the request of members of the Atlanta Aeronautics association and other allied aeronautic organizations.

Chief among matters to be taken up are plans for formation of a local organization to carry on air mail and passenger business; hastening of plans to put Candler field in shape for general use and discussion of steps to be taken in placing Atlanta on at least one of the government air mail routes proposed recently by Postmaster General New.

Air Service Proposed.
A number of Atlantans are said to be interested in formation of the proposed corporation and definite plans probably will be announced at the meeting tonight. Another large company, it was stated Wednesday, now is in communication with the Girl Hysterically Began Mother Not To Talk, but She Tells Her Tale Cold-Bloodedly.

ARSENIC SPREAD ON BREAD, BUTTER

Something Drew in Her Head and Told Her To Kill Relatives, Mrs. Cunningham Tells Sheriff.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Crown Point, Ind., April 15.—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, charged with the murder today of one of five members of her family who have died in the past six years, confessed in the county jail here tonight to Sheriff Benjamin H. Strong that she had poisoned three of her children.

Mrs. Cunningham denied, however, that she had poisoned her husband or a fourth child who died within the six-year period. Her daughter, Mae, 19, who with David, a son, ill from arsenic poisoning in a Chicago hospital, are the only members of the family left, heard Mrs. Cunningham's confession.

Poisoned David Also.
Mrs. Cunningham also confessed that she had poisoned her son, David, and said she had taken some of the poison herself, but that the amount had not been large enough to do anything but to make her ill.

The confession of the 40-year-old woman came with dramatic suddenness. During the afternoon she had talked to a newspaper reporter and had admitted that she might have placed some arsenic in the food of her son David by mistake, but was emphatic in her denial that she had poisoned any members of her family intentionally.

Her daughter, Mae, who had been in Gary, the family home, during the afternoon came to the jail tonight and Mrs. Cunningham suddenly agreed to talk to her daughter were brought to her cell, but she declined to talk there, insisting that she first be moved to another room. This was done and she asked to have Mae stand in front of her.

Done With Whole Bunch.
"Now, Mae," she said in a calm voice without displaying any emotion, "I'm done with the whole bunch of you. I'm done with you, too, and I'm coming clean."

"Oh, mother, don't talk, don't talk," the girl screamed as her mother began calmly to recite the details of the tragedy. "Oh, she couldn't do it, she couldn't do it," the girl gabbled as she was led away.

The son whom Mrs. Cunningham said she did not poison was J. R. Cunningham. He was one of the two bodies of her children exhumed a few days ago and Dr. William D. McNally, of Chicago, coroner's chemist, said he had found poison in the viscera of this body as well as in that of the other body exhumed.

Mrs. Cunningham said that she

Anti-Parochial School Bill, Now Before Supreme Court, Fails To Disturb Sedate Body

Sullivan Compares Deliberations of Justices to Congressional Manner; No Violent Arguments.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
Washington, April 15.—There is powerful appeal to the imagination in the number and fundamental nature of the principles about which the supreme court is now functioning.

In addition to the Kansas case involving compulsory arbitration in labor disputes, decided this week, and the case involving the right of congress to restrict the president's power to remove government employees, now being heard—in addition to these history-making cases, the supreme court will hand down a decision now pending on the right of a state to prevent parents from sending their children to schools other than public ones.

The arguments on this case, which reflected both its importance and the popular interest in it, were concluded during the latter part of March.

Can Jail Parents.
In 1922, Oregon enacted a law providing that any parent or guardian of a child between eight and sixteen, who shall "fail or neglect or refuse to send such child to a public school" shall be subject to fine or imprisonment.

The law was passed, not by the legislature, but by popular referendum, the vote being 115,000 to 810,000. The law would have destroyed all Catholic parochial schools and all other private schools catering to children under 16.

Two private schools sued for an injunction. One was the Catholic school conducted by the Society of the Sisters of the Holy Name of Jesus and Mary. The other was the Hill Military academy.

Several other non-religious private schools, as well as schools conducted under the auspices of Lutherans, Presbyterians, Seventh Day Adventists and other denominations, were affected.

Episcopalians Join.
An Episcopalian organization engaged in training missionaries joined in the suit. The United States district court for Oregon granted a preliminary injunction restraining the state officials from "enforcing or threatening to enforce the act complained against."

Among other things the court said the law was the same as if it had been entitled "An act to prevent parochial and other private schools from teaching the grammar grades." The state appealed to the supreme court, the state officials from "enforcing or threatening to enforce the act complained against."

The officials of Oregon, in seeking to uphold the law, based their argument on the right of the state, under its general police power, to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the education of children. They cited, as an analogy, a recent decision of the supreme court which conceded to the states exclusive control over children in factories. The attorneys for the schools emphasized the right of the parents to control the education of their children.

Might Teach Anarchy.
One of the arguments of the state was to the effect that if it should be denied the power to control education, it could not forbid schools that might teach anarchy. Another argument raised was whether the state, having chartered a private school, would be violating its contract by afterward making it impossible for the school to carry on its business.

There were other aspects, as the lawyers for the state of Oregon put it, from their point of view "the whole matter may be summed up in the single statement that the regulation of education is a subject over which the states have exclusive control and over which the federal government has no authority to interfere."

It was recognized, however, that one of the underlying questions, stated in non-legal terms, is whether parochial and other private schools are protected in their existence by the United States constitution. It was apprehended that if this Oregon law should be sustained, other states might pass similar statutes.

Similar Law Defeated.
In fact, in the state of Washington last November, a similar law was voted on in the referendum but was defeated. Recognizing this as the heart of the issue, several other institutions intervened in addition to the two Oregon schools that were the actual litigants.

Arguments were made in behalf of several well-known eastern preparatory schools, including the Episcopalians of the Episcopal church.

The Episcopal church has more schools than any other denomination except the Catholics. Arguments were made also for the schools of Presbyterians and other denominations, and for private schools not connected with any denomination.

The court now has all the arguments. Just how early the decision will be handed down, cannot be said. One cannot help observing that these arguments were made with such decorum that they were practically unnoticed, and reflecting how, if this question were heard in the supreme court, the newspapers would be filled with the reports of violence and passion-provoking speeches.

Little Publicity.
Nor can one help being impressed with the picture of dignity and deliberation that the supreme court presents, hearing all these questions that go to the heart of organized society, taking their own time for consideration and handing down decisions in the form of fitting authority.

THRILLING STUNTS TO MARK OPENING

Jones, national amateur golf champion, will attempt to drive several balls over the center-field fence from a tee at home plate, just before the game begins.

After that the Crackers will do the rest. What that rest will be is in the hands of fate, but Boss Nantz says that fate is going to have some argument before the game can go to the Lookout aggregation.

The game that is to be at the city hall has taken a hand in the opening day melee, and Mayor Walter A. Sims has issued a proclamation asking the cooperation of industrial and business houses in the work of the Jaycees who are doing their best to bring the attendance up to Atlanta for the fourth time out of the last five tries.

Many institutions of labor have answered the call of honor, and are closing their doors at 9 o'clock in order that the employees may attend the game.

John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, will lend the dignity of officiality to the game by his presence, and will also address the members of the Junior Chamber at a luncheon to be given at the city hall.

Therefore be it resolved, That every able-bodied Atlanta—man, woman or child (and if the dog likes baseball, bring him along, too)—bring his cheers and repair to Poplar park this afternoon and watch the Crackers crack the ice and make the Lookouts look out.

CAILLAUX OFFERED FINANCE MINISTRY

The senate met in special session tonight and night after tomorrow, April 15, about 100 members of the opposition abstaining from voting.

M. de Monzie, sponsor for the bill, said that the right and center parties draw up its weekly statement tomorrow with full legal authority from parliament, the figures of paper currency would be between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000.

The decision of the national council of the socialist party to support the railway ministry without participating therein came as a surprise to many socialist deputies, who had caused it to be announced that socialists would enter the cabinet and that distribution of portfolios to some of the party's members had already begun.

Paul Boncour and Alexandre Varenne were receiving congratulations from friends on their elevation to cabinet posts when the news that the council had ruled against participation was received in the chamber.

Will Draw Conservatives.
M. Caillaux, by the strange irony in French politics, is the man most acceptable to the right and center parties in a cabinet composed out of the left groups. He is the man looked upon to obtain the support of the conservative elements in the chamber.

What reception awaits him in the senate, among the members of which are more than 150 men who sat in the senate in the last five years, is looked forward to with much interest. Caillaux has gone on record as being a conservative.

An Episcopalian organization engaged in training missionaries joined in the suit. The United States district court for Oregon granted a preliminary injunction restraining the state officials from "enforcing or threatening to enforce the act complained against."

Among other things the court said the law was the same as if it had been entitled "An act to prevent parochial and other private schools from teaching the grammar grades." The state appealed to the supreme court, the state officials from "enforcing or threatening to enforce the act complained against."

The officials of Oregon, in seeking to uphold the law, based their argument on the right of the state, under its general police power, to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the education of children. They cited, as an analogy, a recent decision of the supreme court which conceded to the states exclusive control over children in factories. The attorneys for the schools emphasized the right of the parents to control the education of their children.

Might Teach Anarchy.
One of the arguments of the state was to the effect that if it should be denied the power to control education, it could not forbid schools that might teach anarchy. Another argument raised was whether the state, having chartered a private school, would be violating its contract by afterward making it impossible for the school to carry on its business.

There were other aspects, as the lawyers for the state of Oregon put it, from their point of view "the whole matter may be summed up in the single statement that the regulation of education is a subject over which the states have exclusive control and over which the federal government has no authority to interfere."

It was recognized, however, that one of the underlying questions, stated in non-legal terms, is whether parochial and other private schools are protected in their existence by the United States constitution. It was apprehended that if this Oregon law should be sustained, other states might pass similar statutes.

Similar Law Defeated.
In fact, in the state of Washington last November, a similar law was voted on in the referendum but was defeated. Recognizing this as the heart of the issue, several other institutions intervened in addition to the two Oregon schools that were the actual litigants.

Arguments were made in behalf of several well-known eastern preparatory schools, including the Episcopalians of the Episcopal church.

The Episcopal church has more schools than any other denomination except the Catholics. Arguments were made also for the schools of Presbyterians and other denominations, and for private schools not connected with any denomination.

The court now has all the arguments. Just how early the decision will be handed down, cannot be said. One cannot help observing that these arguments were made with such decorum that they were practically unnoticed, and reflecting how, if this question were heard in the supreme court, the newspapers would be filled with the reports of violence and passion-provoking speeches.

Little Publicity.
Nor can one help being impressed with the picture of dignity and deliberation that the supreme court presents, hearing all these questions that go to the heart of organized society, taking their own time for consideration and handing down decisions in the form of fitting authority.

After that the Crackers will do the rest. What that rest will be is in the hands of fate, but Boss Nantz says that fate is going to have some argument before the game can go to the Lookout aggregation.

The game that is to be at the city hall has taken a hand in the opening day melee, and Mayor Walter A. Sims has issued a proclamation asking the cooperation of industrial and business houses in the work of the Jaycees who are doing their best to bring the attendance up to Atlanta for the fourth time out of the last five tries.

Many institutions of labor have answered the call of honor, and are closing their doors at 9 o'clock in order that the employees may attend the game.

John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, will lend the dignity of officiality to the game by his presence, and will also address the members of the Junior Chamber at a luncheon to be given at the city hall.

Anti-Parochial School Bill, Now Before Supreme Court, Fails To Disturb Sedate Body

Sullivan Compares Deliberations of Justices to Congressional Manner; No Violent Arguments.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
Washington, April 15.—There is powerful appeal to the imagination in the number and fundamental nature of the principles about which the supreme court is now functioning.

In addition to the Kansas case involving compulsory arbitration in labor disputes, decided this week, and the case involving the right of congress to restrict the president's power to remove government employees, now being heard—in addition to these history-making cases, the supreme court will hand down a decision now pending on the right of a state to prevent parents from sending their children to schools other than public ones.

The arguments on this case, which reflected both its importance and the popular interest in it, were concluded during the latter part of March.

Can Jail Parents.
In 1922, Oregon enacted a law providing that any parent or guardian of a child between eight and sixteen, who shall "fail or neglect or refuse to send such child to a public school" shall be subject to fine or imprisonment.

The law was passed, not by the legislature, but by popular referendum, the vote being 115,000 to 810,000. The law would have destroyed all Catholic parochial schools and all other private schools catering to children under 16.

Two private schools sued for an injunction. One was the Catholic school conducted by the Society of the Sisters of the Holy Name of Jesus and Mary. The other was the Hill Military academy.

Several other non-religious private schools, as well as schools conducted under the auspices of Lutherans, Presbyterians, Seventh Day Adventists and other denominations, were affected.

Change in Way of Quoting President at Conferences Urged by Newspaper Men

Washington Correspondents Want Chief Executive To Assume Responsibility for His Remarks.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, April 15.—Dissatisfaction over the method by which the president's views are communicated to the public has led to suggestions that the system be radically changed, so that the president can assume direct responsibility for what he says at the white house newspaper conference twice a week.

Sentiment over this more direct method of expressing presidential opinions has become pronounced since an international sensation was created a few days ago by misquoting of the white house dispatches on the fall of Premier Herriot. A number of leading newspapers in New York and Chicago ignored the quotation rule Wednesday morning and carried Washington dispatches directly or indirectly quoting the president's remarks on several topics.

Matter of General Concern.
Ordinarily, the mechanics of news gathering and the difficulties of a reporter on an assignment of no interest or concern to the public. But the statements of the president of the United States are of such great national and international importance that the method by which they are conveyed to the public becomes a matter of general concern.

Since Warren G. Harding revived the semi-weekly press conferences, which Wilson inaugurated and continued for a brief period, the rule has been that the president could not be quoted directly or indirectly. What he said might be restated on the correspondent's authority, or attributed to "the president's spokesman." As few correspondents care to assume direct responsibility for the president's opinions, the "spokesman" device is most generally used.

How President Is Interviewed.
Correspondents file into the president's private office, after handing in written questions prepared in advance. The president discusses such of the questions as he desires. Reporters take notes and write their dispatches, explaining the president's views. There being no direct quotation, correspondents are left to draw their own conclusions, especially as the president's remarks often are somewhat vague. The result is that the humble citizen, trying to find out whether the president is opposing further restriction in French securities, sometimes finds four different views stated in as many New York morning newspapers.

Another complaint is that this system affords an excellent medium through which to disseminate propaganda without having to assume responsibility for it. Some writers of the president's spokesman complained in a white house press conference that Ambassador Jusserand should make his explanations regarding France's attitude on the debts to the white house and not to club women, as he had done that week. The press reported, that the president was displeased with Jusserand's speech. That afternoon, a formal statement was issued, saying that the president had no criticism to make of Jusserand. This put the newspapers in the light of misquoting the president, when every correspondent knew otherwise.

Another Criticism of System.
One more criticism of the present system comes from minority political readers, who say that the president, through the press conference, can make partisan attacks in an anonymous way so that the opposition has difficulty in answering them, but both Coolidge and Harding have exercised considerable restraint in this regard.

It is a cumbersome system which gives so much latitude for distortion and misleading inferences, and the president suffers thereby. Suggestions have been made that the president permit the correspondents to have a stenographic transcript of his remarks for guidance. The present system has provoked so much criticism that some modification is probable.

Knights of Pythias Of Atlanta District Hold Meet at Jackson
Jackson, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) More than 40 delegates from the 18 counties attended the convention of Atlanta district No. 3 of Knights of Pythias, held at Jackson, Wednesday.

The report of Grand Chancellor G. R. Coffin, Augusta, showed the order to be in a healthy condition, many to be in a healthy condition, many to be in a healthy condition, many to be in a healthy condition.

Past Supreme Chancellor T. J. Canning, of Macon, made a plea for establishing Pythian homes. W. G. Moore, Atlanta, grand prelate, talked on the importance of more publicity in the order. A. C. Minter, of Atlanta, lodge No. 20, gave a report on the foundation of the order of Knights of Pythias.

The delegates were welcomed to Jackson by Mayor H. M. Fletcher, and Jackson lodge No. 131, complimented the visitors with a barbecue.

The next convention will be held in Barnesville, the third Wednesday in September.

Officers elected for the Third district include H. Cronheim, Atlanta, president; W. H. Mitchell, Barnesville, first vice president; T. N. Waltrip, Griffin, second vice president; A. R. Conner, Jackson, prelate; Fred Turner, Atlanta, master-at-arms; Lee Terrell, Atlanta, secretary; and W. D. Johnson, West Point, inner guard; P. H. Weaver, Jackson, outer guard.

A resolution thanking Jackson lodge and people of the community for their hospitality was adopted before adjournment.

WILL SUE OIL COMPANY FOR $250,000 BLAZE
Starkville, Miss., April 15.—Announcement was made today by Davis and Green, attorneys, that suit will be filed here this week by property owners of the business district of Starkville against the Gulf Refining company for the entire amount of their loss by fire Monday when the downtown section of the city was razed.

The attorneys say their clients allege that careless handling of oil caused the conflagration. The loss exceeds $250,000, it was said.

MA'UILIFFE ASSUMES DUTY AS SECRETARY
Washington, April 15.—(Special.) J. C. McAuiffie, of Augusta, Ga., formerly postmaster there, took up his duties Wednesday as secretary to Senator Harris, of Georgia, succeeding Miss Eva Graham, of Reynolds, Ga.

McAuiffie was formerly a newspaperman, connected with Augusta and other Georgia papers.

BEAVERS DECISION EXPECTED TODAY

Decision of the certiorari proceedings of James L. Beavers, ousted former chief of Atlanta police, is expected to be rendered today by Judge George L. Bell, of Fulton superior court, before whom arguments on the action of the former chief for reinstatement have been made since early Tuesday. After George C. Sponce, attorney for Beavers, had spent practically all Wednesday in reading portions of the voluminous record of the case, Judge Bell decided to take other points under advisement for the night.

Indications were that he would complete the reading by this morning, and then the police committee, represented by Assistant City Attorney Jesse M. Wood, will begin argument in an effort to vindicate action taken by the committee in firing the chief in A— of 1924.

The committee set out in its grounds for its dismissal that the former chief was delinquent in performance of duties as chief in failure to visit patrolmen on their beats. It also is alleged that Beavers signed a passport in a court matter when he was a property owner.

U. S. GRAND FLEET SAILS OFF TO WAR
San Francisco, April 15.—The grand fleet—mightiest concentration of sea power ever assembled under the flag of the United States—steamed out to "war" today across the broad Pacific. Through the Golden Gate and in the ocean the fighting ships of the nation moved exactly as they would proceed if their mission of capturing the Island of Oahu, chief of the Hawaiian group and the country's western outpost of defense, were real instead of imaginary.

Radio silence and "darkened ship" were to be maintained on all units as soon as the last vessel filed out of the bay.

The departure of the assemblage—127 vessels of all classes in a procession estimated to be 25 miles in length—was a spectacle as impressive and as stirring as the fleet's arrival on April 5.

'Corpse' Comes To Life As Relatives Discuss Funeral Arrangements
Wheeling, W. Va., April 15.—An application of ice water resuscitated Mrs. Sarah Burge, 80, as friends and relatives gathered at her home to arrange for her funeral after the aged woman had lapsed into a state of coma and was believed to have died.

Returning today from Woodruff, W. Va., where they had been summoned by the report of Mrs. Burge's death, Mrs. Margaret Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Jones, related the circumstances of her rally. Mrs. Burge is the mother of Mrs. Davis.

While those at the bedside were discussing funeral arrangements, Mrs. Jones said she began bathing her grandmother's face with ice water. Mrs. Burge opened her eyes a few moments later, she said, to inquire what was the matter. Her recovery from an attack of pneumonia was expected.

Personnel Society Meets.
Election of officers will feature a meeting at 6 o'clock Friday night of the Personnel society, of Atlanta, to be held at the Blackburn tea room. Annual business will also be discussed at the meeting.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED CONVICTED NEGRESS IN ARENDALE CASE

Pearl Booth, negress, under sentence of death in Fulton Tower for the murder of J. L. Arendale, night watchman at the Patterson Lumber company on Highland avenue, has been granted a new trial by the state supreme court. The decision of the Fulton superior court denying the motion for new trial, was overruled Wednesday.

Principal grounds on which the new trial is granted is that at the first trial in Fulton superior court evidence was admitted concerning other crimes the negress is alleged to have committed but which was "immaterial" to the case before the court.

Final Rites Today For Mrs. Oppenheim, Well-Known Woman
Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock this morning for Mrs. Florence Meyer Oppenheim, 58, wife of J. H. Oppenheim, of the Oppenheim Cigar company, who died Tuesday night at the residence, 105 Penn avenue. Services will be held from the chapel of Greens, M. & Bond.

Mrs. Oppenheim was a native of New Orleans and had been a resident of Atlanta for more than 35 years. She was widely known, and gave much of her time to religious and civic club work.

In addition to her husband she is survived by a son, Leon H. Oppenheim, three sisters, Mrs. Sara C. Meyer, Miss Lillie Meyer, both of Atlanta; Mrs. Annie Rosefeld, of New York city; a brother, Emanuel Meyer, of Saginaw, Mich.

G. M. A. INSPECTION PLANS ANNOUNCED
A corps of special officers from the war department Saturday will inspect cadets of the Georgia Military Academy for the purpose of giving it a special rating among leading military preparatory schools of the United States, it was announced Wednesday by Colonel J. C. Woodward, president and commandant.

Twenty-two schools of the United States will be inspected. The fourth corps area of the war department has recommended inspection of G. M. A. and officers conducting the inspection will attend a mammoth barbecue on G. M. A. campus, following the inspection.

DR. ALEXANDER TALKS TO BIBLE CLASS TODAY
Dr. W. W. Alexander, secretary of the inter-racial commission of the south, will address the weekly luncheon of the Men's Bible class of the Druid Hills Baptist church at Wesley Memorial church dining room today at 12:30 o'clock. Dr. Alexander has just returned from a conference in New York and will discuss, at the luncheon today, the plans of the commission for this year.

INFORMATION BUREAU ON MAIL RATES OPENED
Any information desired by the public, relative to the new postal rates which went into effect in the Atlanta postoffice Wednesday, can be obtained at room 103 Federal building, it was announced Wednesday, by John Martin, assistant postmaster.

"We do not expect to experience much difficulty in putting the new rates into effect," Mr. Martin said. "A special force has been organized to assist the public in handling the mail under the new rates."

BOY'S LEG CRUSHED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

With a broken left leg, Joe Russell, 5 years old, of 728 East Fair street, is in the Grady hospital, the result of being struck down Wednesday morning by an automobile in East Fair street, near Tye street.

The driver of the automobile, Chester Lee, of Lakewood Heights, was arrested by police on a charge of reckless driving, and placed under a $500 bond.

Witnesses told Call Officers M. C. Williams and W. A. McKinney that the front wheels of the auto passed over the boy's leg after he was knocked to the pavement.

ATHENS STREET LINES FILE ANNUAL REPORT
The total revenue received from all departments of the Athens Railway and Electric company for the year ending December 31, 1924, as contained in the annual report to the Georgia Public Service commission, amounted to $403,682.71, while total expenses are given as amounting to $283,956.81.

Net earnings derived, over operating expenses, taxes and rentals, the report shows, amounted to a total of $119,725.90.

A loss of $8,770.45 from the operation of street cars is shown in the report to the commission which gives the total revenue from the street railway service for the year as $70,120.75, while total expenses amounted to $78,891.20.

FLAMES DESTROY NEW YORK CHURCH LOSS IS $500,000
New York, April 15.—Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal church at Lenox avenue and 122nd street, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning at an estimated loss of half million dollars.

Flames rose to a height of 200 feet. Clothing of persons 100 feet distant was scorched.

Members of four engine companies who were in the church when the roof began to collapse, rushed to shelter under pillars in the west side of the building while tons of debris and great flaming beams toppled down.

The rector of the church, the Rev. Dr. William H. Owen, is out of the city. The parish was in charge of his assistant, the Rev. William L. Cadman, a brother of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The cause of the fire has not been ascertained. The building was 38 years old. Several great stained glass windows, said to be valuable as art treasures, were destroyed as was a new $35,000 pipe organ.

NARCOTIC CHARGE LAID TO I. M. TOPP AFTER GRILLING

Arraigned before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter under a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic act, I. M. Topp, 35, giving his address as a local hotel, Wednesday afternoon was held to the federal grand jury under a $300 bond, after being grilled by detectives.

Topp was one of five persons arrested about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning by Detectives W. D. McGee, S. A. Smith and L. H. Satterfield, as suspected of being implicated in the theft of automobiles.

The other four—L. A. Grubb, 27, of Birmingham, Ala.; Burnie Baker, 21, of Jacksonville, Fla.; J. L. Pritchard, 23, of 37 Houston street, and Bill Hallman, 21, Columbus, Ga., are being held without bond by detectives under a blanket charge of suspicion.

Arrest of the quintet followed recovery of a motor truck driven to Atlanta, it is said, from St. Louis, in which were found several license tags from different states—one from Kentucky, another from Tennessee and still others from Alabama and Florida. The tags, detectives state, were in the original envelopes in which they were issued by the authorities, none being attached to the truck.

A sawed-off shotgun, with three notches in the barrel, also was found in the truck. A quantity of shells containing buck-shot was found in

New Way to Take Cod Liver Oil—Greatest Tonic and Builder of Firm Flesh and Sturdy Bones in the World.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets

Of course, all mothers—and grandmothers, too, for that matter—know that the greatest builder of firm, healthy flesh in thin, puny, rindown children is cod liver oil, and especially where there are any signs of Rickets.

But here's something every mother doesn't know—Cod Liver Oil helps to make strong, healthy bones—and even helps to make better teeth.

Yes, it's true. Doctors know it. Dentists know it—chemists know it. And now here's another surprise! No more will the kiddies have to take the vile, nasty tasting, evil smelling oil that nine times in ten disturbs their sensitive stomachs and almost turns them inside out.

Never again! thank goodness, will they even have to smell the vile stuff, for now science has given us—and people who keep up with the times are taking—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

So now you can go ahead and make the sickly youngsters strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one put on good solid flesh—and if any one of them has Rickets you can conquer that, too.

Mother: Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 30 days if any of your children aren't up to par. You'll be surprised at the quick help they will give them, and if you aren't satisfied with results, Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., or the druggist you purchased them from will return your money. One New Jersey boy gained 114 pounds in 7 weeks. Be sure and get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

THE NEW DOMINION

Florida's history opens to the reader of today as a book whose early pages glow with tales of high adventure in the dim ago days of 1512 and on. For centuries the bivouac ground of the bronze warriors of the tropics, then for years the playground of America. But now, with irresistible forward thrust, arises a new Florida; a dominion of colossal, industrial and commercial enterprise; an empire whose resources, scenic advantages and benign climate are attracting huge volumes of capital for permanent investment in architectural, engineering and commercial developments.

Transatlantic steamers will soon be docking at the wharves of full-fledged cities whose concrete and steel buildings have risen to take the place of the palmettos of a handful of years ago. Broad paved streets, modern electric lighting and transportation systems, banks, hotels, up-to-date stores, humming factories and beautiful homes now stand where just recently were limitless stretches of open lands.

And greatest among all Florida's magnificent achievements and development looms

HOLLYWOOD

By The Sea

The city on whose stalwart growth and super-magnitude engineering, commercial and civic development $18,000,000 will be expended this year.

Out of all of Florida's vigorous real estate activities today, ocean front, East Coast tropical property is the most eagerly sought and bought and Hollywood by the Sea is pre-eminently first in the possession of those salient features which are indispensable to the rapid building of a commanding maritime and commercial metropolis.

Come in our beautiful Atlanta offices today. Let us show you how unmistakably Hollywood is leading all Florida cities in rapid enhancement of real estate values. Learn the particulars of our FREE, luxurious auto-bus round trip of inspection to ocean-girt Hollywood—a gloriously recreational and thrilling trip. Prepare to buy a home site in this peerless tropical city NOW and let your dollars breed some of the amazing profits that are being realized in this new industrial and commercial dominion by the sea. Chattanooga Outhit Crackers

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has received strong support in its extensive campaign to fill the empty seats in the above picture at Miller's park, where the Crackers meet Chattanooga in the first game on the local lot. The park picture was made from an airplane. The insert shows the Crackers, forming an "A" and ready to give their best for the Atlanta fans today.

The Chattanooga crowd began its cheering in the last half of the fourth when they beat in one run. Bigelow sent a screaming liner through the box, went to third on Anderson's single to right and came on to the plate as the ball bounded out of Gooden's hands.

PETREL STAR IS HONORED BY MATES

His election to this place of honor came as no surprise, as he has been winning scholastic honors as well as starring on the baseball field since entering Oglethorpe in 1922. In fact he has won about all the honors of note to be offered at the Petre institution. When it was decided that the student body needed a president, he was chosen without opposition. He is a member of the only honorary fraternity at Oglethorpe, and has maintained a scholastic average high enough to win the Oglethorpe coat of arms the highest honor to be gained.

Unlike Any Story You Have Ever Read

The Lost World
BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER VIII—Continued.

For three days we made our way up this tunnel of hazy green sunshine. On the longer stretches one could hardly tell as one looked ahead where the distant green water ended and the distant green archway began. The deep peace of this strange waterway was unbroken by any sign of man.

"No Indian here. Too much afraid," Curupuri said Gobeze.

"Curupuri is the spirit of the woods," Lord John explained. "It's a name for any kind of devil. The poor beggars think that there is something fearsome in this direction and therefore, they avoid it."

On the third day it became evident that our journey in the canoes would not last much longer, for the stream was rapidly growing much shallower. Twice in as many hours we stuck upon the bottom. Finally we pulled the boats up among the brushwood and spent the night on the bank of the river. In the morning Lord John and I made our way for a couple of miles through the forest, keeping parallel with the stream; but as it grew ever shallower we reformed and reported, what Professor Challenger already had suspected, that we had reached the highest point to which the canoes could be brought. We drew them up, therefore, and concealed them among the bushes, blazing a tree with our axes, so that we should find them again. Then we distributed the various burdens among us—guns, ammunition, food, a tent, blankets and the rest—and, shouldering our packages, we set forth upon the more laborious stage of our journey.

An unfortunate quarrel between our pepperpots marked the outset of our new stage. Challenger had from the moment of joining us issued directions to the whole party, much to the evident discontent of Summerlee. Now, upon assigning some duty to his fellow professor (it was only the carrying of an aneroid barometer), the matter suddenly came to a head.

"May I ask you, sir," said Summerlee, with vicious calm, "in what capacity you take it upon yourself to issue these orders?"

Challenger glared and bristled.

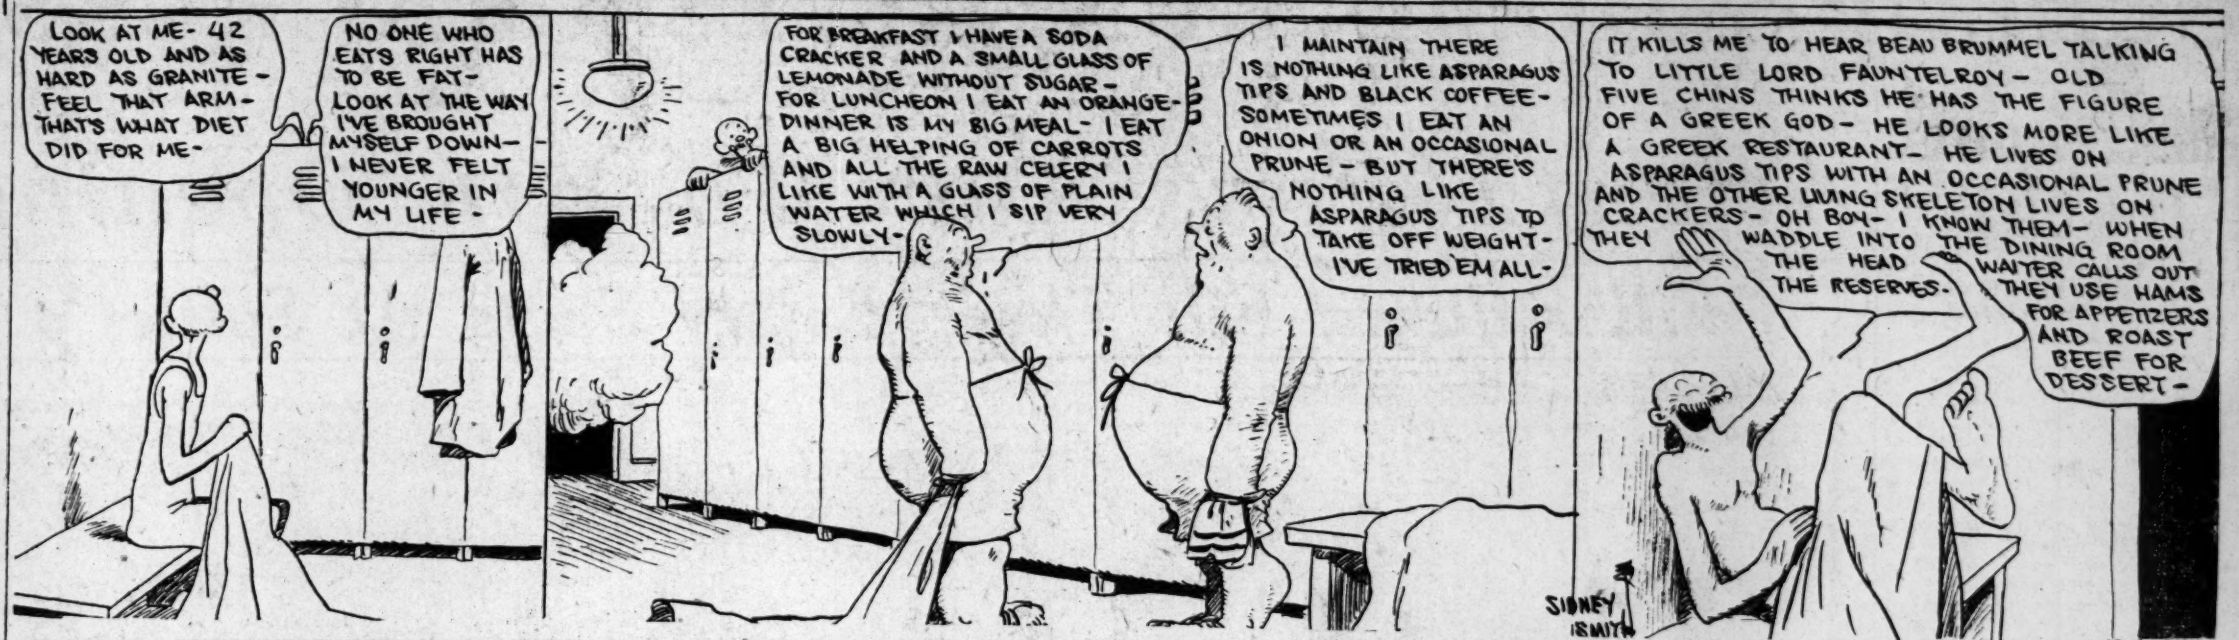

"I do it, Professor Summerlee, as leader of this expedition."

"I am compelled to tell you, sir, that I do not recognize you in that capacity."

"Indeed!" Challenger bowed with unwieldy sarcasm. "Perhaps, you would define my exact position."

"Yes, sir. You are a man whose veracity is under trial, and this committee is here to try it. You walk, sir, with your judges, and I will follow at my leisure. If I am not the leader you cannot expect me to lead."

Thank heaven that there were two same men—Lord John Roxton and myself—to prevent the petulance and folly of our learned professors from sending us back empty-handed to London. Such arguing and pleading and explaining before we could get them mollified! Then at last, Summerlee, with his sneer and his pipe, would move forward, and Challenger would come rolling and grumbling after. By some good fortune we discovered that both our savants had the very poorest of names, the Scotchologist, when both professors would form a temporary alliance and friend-of bamboo, and at once formed our camp, exhausted by the interminable day.

Early next morning we were again afoot, and found that the character of the country had changed once again. Behind us was the wall of bamboo, as definite as if it marked the course of a river. In front was an open plain, sloping slightly upwards and dotted with clumps of tree-ferns, the whole curving before us until it ended in a long, white-backed ridge. This we reached about midday, only to find a shallow valley beyond, rising once again to a low, rounded skyline. It was here, while we crossed the first of these hills, that an incident occurred which may or may not have been important.

Professor Challenger, who with two local Indians, was in the van of the party, stopped suddenly and pointed excitedly to the right. As he did so, we saw, at the distance of a mile or so, something which appeared to be a huge gray bird flap slowly up from the ground and skim smoothly off, flying very low and straight, until it was lost among the tree-ferns. "Did you see it?" cried Challenger, in exultation. "Summerlee, did you see it?"

His colleague was staring at the spot where the creature had disappeared. "What do you claim that it was?" he asked.

"To the best of my belief, a pterodactyl!"

Summerlee burst into derisive laughter. "A pterodactyl!" said he. "It was a stork, if ever I saw one."

Challenger was too furious to speak. He simply swung his pack upon his back and continued upon his march. Lord John came abreast of me, however, and his face was more grave than was his wont. He had his Zeiss glasses in his hand.

"I focused it before it got over the trees," said he. "I won't undertake to say what it was, but I'll risk my reputation as a sportsman. They are the official fired men and sometimes they are fired fifteen or twenty times a day.

So there the matter stands. Are we really just at the edge of the unknown, encountering the outlying pickets of this lost world of which our leader speaks? I give you the incident as it occurred and you will know as much as I do. It stands alone, for we saw nothing more which could be called remarkable.

Frampton-Dobbs Wedding Solemnized in St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—(Special.)—Amid a stately setting of tall standards of Easter lilies combined with the soft glow of cathedral tapers, the marriage of Miss Marjory Frampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Craig Frampton, of Westmoreland drive, and Samuel Candler Dobbs, Jr., of Atlanta, was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, with Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, Ga., uncle of the groom, officiating.

The church was filled with members of St. Louis society, many out-of-town guests and relatives of the bride and groom. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Candler Dobbs, of Atlanta, were here for the wedding.

Bride's Gown.

The bride wore a gown of callot satin and Duchess lace. It was fashioned along classic lines with full skirt and a tight bodice, finished at the top with a deep yolk of Duchess lace. Chiffon set into the skirt on either side gave a suggestion of softness, as did the panel of Duchess lace in front where the skirt was slashed. From the lower edge of the yoke hung the long court train, lined with silver tissue and flesh chiffon and embellished at the bottom with a semi-circle of orange blossoms. A pearl encrusted veil with a Duchess lace cap, which fell into a short drapery over her shoulders, completed the bride's costume. She carried a bouquet of Easter lilies.

Proceeding the bride came the bridesmaids, Miss Mildred North, Miss Olive Moffitt and Miss Lois Engel, gowned in fluffy pink chiffon and cream lace with trains of the material caught to one shoulder. Large hats of cream lace and maline with red roses dropping from one side of the brim and bouquets of sweet peas in pink and cream formed the finishing touches of the picture they made.

Mrs. Earl Conner served as matron of honor and Miss Helen Frampton, the bride's sister, acted as maid of honor. Miss Frampton's gown of peach-colored chiffon with a cluster of varicolored flowers at one hip held in place a pink and blue ribbon train. She carried pale yellow roses. Mr. Dobbs was attended by Archie Lee, formerly of Atlanta, as best man and Bryan Whitehead, of New York; J. J. Goodrum, Jr., of Atlanta; Everett Brooks and Archibald Debow, who served as groomsmen. E. R. Thomas, R. E. Woods and L. R. Thomas were ushers.

Reception at Home.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Frampton home, 7312 Westmoreland drive, and a bridal dinner for the bridal party. Several hundred guests attended the reception. A large canvas marquee built in the back of the home provided space for dancing.

The groom's present to his bride was a shoulder pin, with a bowknot of diamonds and platinum. He gave his groomsmen gold bill clasps, and his best man a tuxedo watch chain. The bride presented her attendants with bracelets and rings to match, of green, yellow and white gold.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs will make their home at Park avenue and 82nd street, New York.

out-of-town visitor attending opera. Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Ayer will have as their guests during opera week Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones, of Selma, Ala. After Tuesday Mr. Jones will return home, but Mrs. Jones will remain as Mrs. Ayer's guest throughout the week and will be the attractive honor guest at the tea at which Mrs. Ayer will entertain on Friday at the Atlanta Woman's club.

Miss Elizabeth Douglas, lovely daughter of Dr. Douglas, president of Converse college, at Spartanburg, S. C., will arrive on Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ayer at their home on Peachtree road and will be an attractive figure attending the opera performances Friday and Saturday. Miss Douglas, Mrs. Ayer, Miss Virginia Ayer and Mrs. Roger Jones will form a congenial party attending the matinee on Saturday.

'Original 13' To Give Tea-Dance At Woman's Club

A lovely tea-dance will be given by the "Original 13" of the Atlanta Woman's club, Thursday afternoon, from 5 until 7 o'clock, in the beautiful banquet hall of the club house. An orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

Those assisting Mrs. Tom Brooke, chairman of the junior membership of the club, as chaperones for the young people are: Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, Mrs. Arthur Hinzard, Mrs. George Obeir, Jr., Mrs. Edith Peacock and the mothers of the "Original 13" group.

Members of the group are Misses Florence Obeir, Jane Sharp, Margaret Peacock, Elizabeth Scott, Virginia Risk, Wilene Carlisle, Florence Smith, Rebecca Bivins, Florence Graham, Winnetta Manning, Alice McDonald, Frances Turner, Ruth Brooke, Evelyn Sims, Mary Grace Rowe and Frances Wilkerson. An orchestra will furnish the music for dancing.

Many Prominent Out-of-Town Visitors To Attend Opera

Among the prominent visitors who will add pleasure and interest to the gay opera season will be Mrs. Buford Goodwin, of Birmingham, Ala., who will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bridges at their home on Penn avenue.

Mrs. Goodwin will arrive in the city on Thursday and Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bridges will entertain in her honor at the supper-dance at the Capital City club, following the opera "Mefistofele."

Mrs. Latimer Rudolph, of Gainesville, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Bridges, will also be a prominent

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

The marriage of Miss Ellen Finley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Finley, of 4 Lexington avenue, New York city, to Dr. William Howell Kiser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser and grandson of Colonel William L. Peel, of Atlanta, Ga., will take place today at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Howard Crumley Jones will give a bridge-luncheon at her home on St. Charles avenue in compliment to Miss Chavigny Clarke, a bride-elect.

Mrs. Charles P. Byrd will give an informal tea at her home for Misses Emogene and Helen Artley.

Booth Tarkington's play, "Clarence," will be given by the Little Theater Guild at the Woman's club this evening beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Martin C. Shallenberger will entertain at her home in Fort McPherson honoring her mother, Mrs. R. W. Dowdy, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Montague Boyd, of Savannah, Ga., the guests of Mrs. Doctor and Mrs. William Shallenberger.

Mrs. Charles W. Daniel and Mrs. Harry Ansley will entertain at an informal tea at the home of Mrs. Daniel on East Eighth street, the occasion to honor Miss Winnie Belle Davis, a bride-elect.

Barbecue Is Annual Event At Druid Hills Golf Club

On the sloping greensward of the Druid Hills golf club, beneath trees that have just donned their brightest springtime green, the annual barbecue in honor of the Metropolitan opera stars will again focus social interest Wednesday afternoon.

The beautiful clubhouse is still in process of restoration—but the grounds about it have never before been so profusely green, nor more lavishly endowed with nature's prodigal beauty.

Probably no event in all Atlanta's annual week of music holds the delightful atmosphere of cheer that comes with the yearly barbecues. Centered in a week of sparkling activity, these events stand out with peculiar charm and add immeasurable zest to the round of festivities.

Inaugurated when Atlanta's opera season began, the barbecues have always been anticipated with rare pleasure, and have delighted the visitors with their informality and attributes of true southern hospitality and wholesome cordiality.

Hundreds of visitors from all sections of the country, as well as the entire group of artists who come to enthral Atlanta with their gorgeous music, will be present for the occasion—to meet their Atlanta friends and participate in the spontaneous gaiety always a distinctive feature. The barbecue will be held promptly at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Wright Is Feted Guest.

Mrs. Wallace Wright, of Cologne, Germany, the guest of Miss Louise Fitten, at her home on Fifteenth street, is being extensively entertained.

Mrs. Wright will be honor guest Saturday evening at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club when she will be the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacDougall.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith will entertain at the dinner-dinner at the Baltimore club in honor of Mrs. Wright.

Mrs. Ronald Ransom will entertain at a mah jongg-ten Monday afternoon, April 20, at the Piedmont Driving club in honor of Mrs. Wright.

Mrs. Edward Inman gave a luncheon Wednesday at the Atlanta-Baltimore in honor of Mrs. Wright.

The rooms where the luncheon was held were decorated with quantities of spring flowers arranged in bowls and baskets.

The luncheon table was overlaid with a handsome lace cover and placed at intervals were five low, oblong baskets filled with tea roses, lilacs of the valley and snapdragons, the handles of the baskets tied with peach-colored ribbon of cobweb design.

The guests included a group of friends of the hostess and guest of honor.

Mrs. DuBose Is Given Luncheon.

The first of a series of lovely social affairs planned in honor of Miss Katherine DuBose, popular bride-elect, was the luncheon at which Mrs. Inman Bell was hostess Wednesday at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. P. H. Bell assisted in entertaining.

The luncheon table held in the center a graceful silver basket filled with pink roses. Pink tapers burned in silver holders and other details of the pretty table were in pink.

Mrs. Choate Gives Tea for Daughter.

Mrs. Herbert Choate was hostess at a lovely tea Wednesday at the Baltimore hotel in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Jones, of New York.

The guests included a small group of friends who were seated for tea at a table placed on the terrace and adorned with spring flowers.

Assisting in the entertaining were Mrs. W. L. Percy, Mrs. Harry L. Moore, Mrs. James T. Williams, Mrs. Charles Choate and Mrs. Charles Jerome.

Mrs. Milner Hostess To Miss Jane Walker.

Miss Jane Walker, of Los Angeles, will be the guest of Mrs. Milner at her home at Fort McPherson.

Her guests included Mrs. Martin Shallenberger and her guest, Mrs. Dowdy; Mrs. Catherine Jones, Mrs. Melville Jarvis, Mrs. George Brindley, Mrs. Emil Pearl and Mrs. A. J. Holling.

the attractive guest of Mrs. Flippen Burge, was central figure at the bridge-luncheon at which Mrs. Spanu Milner was hostess Wednesday at her home on West Peachtree street.

The rooms where the guests were received were decorated with quantities of spring blossoms. Luncheon was served at individual card tables which held small bud vases holding handsome roses. The guests included eight close friends of the hostess.

Mrs. Mobley Honors Miss Sarah Gibson.

Mrs. William Mobley entertained at a lovely miscellaneous shower Monday evening, at her home in West End, in honor of Miss Sarah Gibson, charming bride-elect.

The house was decorated throughout with narcissi, dogwood and Easter lilies, arranged on the color scheme of green and white.

The tea table was overlaid with an exquisite Madeira cover. Gracing the center of the table was a silver basket filled with tea roses. Crystal candlesticks holding green and white candles alternated with bonbon dishes filled with mints of the same color, and a miniature bride and groom completed the table decorations.

The contest prizes were won by Mrs. E. H. Gibson and Miss Irene Carson.

The gifts were presented in a large green and white Easter basket.

Mrs. Mobley was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. F. J. Eaves.

How to Make Strawberry Jam In 15 Minutes

By Ann Proctor

The most delicious strawberry jam you ever tasted—chock full of the natural color and flavor—can be made at home by anyone within 15 minutes after the berries are washed and crushed. I use the Certo method because it takes only one minute's boiling, thus saving flavor and color; never fails; and it does not become one-half hour jam from the same amount of berries.

To make 12 large glasses of Strawberry Jam, use this simple recipe:

Crush about 2 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one full minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime, skim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly.

Use same recipe for Raspberry, Blackberry or Dewberry Jam.

By this short "Certo" Process you save all the color and flavor that boiled away by the old method. Time and worry are saved and you have as against 3 lbs. by the old method, and the cost with 30c berries and 10c sugar is less than 10c per glass.

Certo is simply the "jell" property of fruit, refined and concentrated, and is obtainable of grocers everywhere.

The above recipe and nearly 100 others for making delicious jellies and jams by the "Certo Process" is found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which is attached to every bottle of Certo.

Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. It saves time, worry and boiling. The Certo Process never fails and saves money, because you make half as much pure jam from the same amount of fruit; it is endorsed by national authorities and cooking experts. Jelly and jams made with Certo keep perfectly—(adv.)

Mrs. Carroll Payne Honors Miss Shedden.

One of the loveliest affairs on Wednesday's social calendar was the luncheon at which Mrs. J. Carroll Payne was hostess at her home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Mary Shedden, popular bride-elect of April.

A beautiful arrangement of choice spring blossoms decorated the handsome table.

The luncheon table held in the center a silver basket filled with pale pink roses and fragrant valley lilies.

Miss Shedden was an attractive figure, wearing a gown of blue and tan printed chiffon with a becoming blue hat.

Mrs. Payne was gowned in black charmeuse with a graceful jabot of ecru lace.

Covers were laid for Miss Shedden, Miss Pauline deGivie, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Jr., Miss Harriet Shedden, Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Miss Margaret Horzen, Mrs. William Huger, Miss Margaret Nelson, Mrs. R. F. Shedden, Miss Douglas Paine, Miss Emmie Nixon and Mrs. Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Inman entertained at the dinner-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore Wednesday evening, honoring Miss Shedden.

A group of the young social set were present, including the members of the bridal party.

Legion Auxiliary To Sponsor Griffin Follies.

The "Griffin Follies" will be presented in Griffin, Friday evening, April 24, in the high school auditorium, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary. The local auxiliary, one of the most active in the state, has been doing splendid work for the veterans in the hospitals and for all the other causes to which they are asked to contribute and the money derived from the performance will be used to further those worthy causes.

The follies is being directed by Mrs. Lillian Connolly, of Atlanta, who so successfully managed the production last year.

The rehearsals are progressing nicely and every one in the cast is taking great interest in the production.

A number of the most talented young people in Griffin will be featured in special acts and others will delight the audience in choruses. The beauty and chivalry of Griffin will be on the stage to charm the audience and make the 1925 follies an event long to be remembered.

The performance will be followed by a brilliant dance, which will assemble the many visitors that will be in the city for the follies.

Miss Carlock Weds Earl G. Thomas.

P. S. Carlock announces the marriage of his daughter, Marion Eugenia, to Earl Gordon Thomas, on Sunday evening, April 12, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Rev. T. S. McCallie, on Oak street, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Rev. McCallie, who is pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of Chattanooga, performed the ceremony. Mr. Thomas and his bride will be at home to their friends in Atlanta.

Mrs. Graves Honors Valdosta Visitor.

Miss Dorothy Jackson, of Valdosta, the attractive guest of Miss Sarah Ivins, was honor guest at the bridge-ten at which Mrs. Donald Graves entertained Wednesday at the home of her mother, Mrs. T. W. Fulton, on Oakdale road.

Mrs. Fulton assisted in entertaining. The guests included Miss Jackson, Miss Ivins, Miss Mary Tuller, Miss Mildred Bawel, Miss Isabel Hunter, Miss Dorothy Kollins, Miss Marie B. Porter, Miss Inez Williamson, Miss Ida Belle Hunt, Miss May Green, of Mississippi and Mrs. Charles Sullivan.

Miss Lily Allen To Sponsor Piano Recital.

Miss Lily Allen invites the public to a piano recital at 3:30 o'clock, Friday, April 17, at her West End Presbyterian church studio.

The following pupils will take part in the program: Marietta Faust, Maxine Judd, Linda Wilson, Clark Hudson, Rola Randall, Kathrine Picken, Lucy Poe, Helen Boardman, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Lois Brown Cary and Marian Reynolds.

Fat From Soap.

Pour the hot fat through a cloth wrung out of cold water and all the fat will remain in the cloth, leaving the soap most palatable.

Rag Rugs.

Never fail to starch the colonial rag rugs after washing. It not only keeps them clean longer, but keeps the rug flat and smooth on the floor.

Beating Mattresses.

An old sheet, slightly dampened, placed over mattresses or upholstered furniture when beating is to be done will absorb the dust and prevent dirt flying to the other furniture.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

THE NEW MANICURE CREAM.

There are hundreds of good ways of manicuring the nails, no special one can be recommended more than any other, but some appeal to one woman, some to another. I find though that this new manicure cream, an abrasive cream, is becoming very popular. I wrote about it first some few months ago.

To make it, take about a tablespoonful of petroleum jelly or of cream, cleansing cream that is, even a spoonful of lard—all you want is a thick grease for a foundation; the only objection to lard, aside from its smell, is that it hardens so in cold weather and runs too soft on hot days.

Add powdered pumice. To make sure you have the very finest, buy it at a drug store, it comes so fine it looks like face powder, and generally it is perfumed, which makes it nicer to use. The proportions are roughly half and half, but it's impossible to say definitely, for a thick cream grows too thick with less than half its amount of pumice added and a thinner cream will stand more without getting thick at all. It's not important, anyway. You want an abrasive cream, a rough half and half measurement will work out all right.

Next take little bits of fairly soft pencil eraser cut off into balls with a pen knife, and insert one little ball between the prongs of a ten cent pair of tweezers. Or else sharpen an eraser to a point and use that.

Rub the jelly around the finger nails, rub all over the nail, especially where the dead cuticle is, with the eraser, wash off with hot water and soap and a small brush. If the cuticle about the nails is very bad, this will raise bits that need clipping. But after a month or so of use, daily or three times a week, those rough bits won't appear, and you nails will look as attractive as you could desire. The double force of two abrasive things on the nail will take off the dead skin before it has time to make any trouble or look ugly.

A Reader—You will have to clip.

An Ode to Spring

To some the gift of words is given. To some the golden gift of song. And there are those whose rare talents catch the glories of a sunset and paint them on a canvas for generations to enjoy.

There are odes to spring in words, in song and on canvas.

Here an artist has pictured an ode to spring in spring's own gift of flowers. In leaves of green and flowers of gold and lanterns that glow over all!

A picture of real enchantment our artist has made for all who will to enjoy. A picture lavishly wrought, for our entire main floor is its setting.

To all Atlanta and to every visitor within her gates, we extend a cordial invitation to see our "Ode to Spring."

FIFTH DISTRICT WINS THREE CONTESTS AT P. T. A. MEETING

Two Constitution Movements Indorsed by Convention

BY MRS. JOHN TOLER.
(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Macon, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) The Fifth District Parent-Teacher association, composed of DeKalb, Fulton, Rockdale, Campbell and Douglas counties, was announced winner of the Alice Hilburn endowment fund silver vase and the Hilburn banner at the Wednesday evening session of the Georgia State Parent-Teacher association convention now being held in Macon.

An outstanding feature of the Wednesday evening program was the address, "The War on Illiteracy," by Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the National Education Association of the United States, familiarly known throughout the country as "the moonlight lady of Kentucky." Mrs. Stewart is the founder of the famous moonlight schools of that state. The objective of the National Parent-Teacher association—no illiterates in the United States by 1930—is in a fair way to be realized, stated Mrs. Stewart.

"The next world war," continued the speaker, "will be a war on illiteracy and it is already being launched. The movement having started 15 years ago in the mountains of Kentucky, and not only has it engaged our whole nation, but other nations have taken up the challenge." Mrs. Stewart spoke forcefully on the effects of illiteracy on the life of a nation and how it was interwoven with every phase of its progress. She was high in praise of Georgia's leadership in this campaign.

Mrs. Stewart lauded the work Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, of Macon, is doing as national P. T. A. chairman of illiteracy.

Kirkwood Due Credit.
The Kirkwood P. T. A. is due credit for the award made the fifth district, this association contributing $100 to the endowment fund in honor of their loyal and faithful member, Mrs. Kate Green Hess. The award was accepted by Miss Kathleen Mitchell, fifth district chairman for the endowment fund.

"The handsome silver vase won by the fifth district," was presented the Georgia P. T. A. congress by the Macon Daily Telegraph, to be awarded annually to the district making the largest gift to the endowment fund in proportion to the district's membership.

At Last—Something Effective for Wrinkles!

It has been conclusively demonstrated that a simple home-made tarrack paste, applied to the face, will very quickly eliminate wrinkles, worry, care and age marks. You need only mix a spoonful each of powdered tarrack and lemon juice, spread this over your face, then sit down before your mirror and watch the miracle. Some lines disappear. In less than fifteen minutes your face will be as smooth and firm as a young girl's! Bagginess will also melt away—youthful contour will be restored. It's simply wonderful how this harmless mixture works.

The result, after the mixture is washed off the face, is infinitely better than from the most skillful face massage. And the cost is trifling—less than three cents per treatment. Any druggist can supply powdered tarrack in original package. So there's no excuse now for any woman looking so old, haggard or careworn.—(adv.)

bership, the fund to be used for state extension work.

Fifth Wins Again.
The presentation of the Hilburn banner was awarded the fifth district for the forming of 24 new associations during the past year, this number surpassing that of the other 11 districts. The first district was given honorable mention for the forming of 10 new associations. Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, president of the fifth district, received the banner in behalf of the district.

Keen interest and competition centered in the announcement of the winners in the poster contest. Beautiful and original posters made by school pupils were exhibited by schools from every part of the state.

William A. Bass Junior High school, of Atlanta, was given a first prize for the poster "Which, Health Versus Sickness," the poster being made by Miss Katherine Mumford, of that school. A second prize was awarded the Home Park elementary school of Atlanta. The poster was made by Miss Mamie Ogletree, member of the sixth grade of that school. The poster subject being "P. T. A. Aims."

The following associations were announced winners and awarded prizes in the nutrition contest: Ernest Avenue, Atlanta; Fulton High, Atlanta; Samuel Inman, Atlanta; Hartwell, Warthen, Tignall, Oxford; Gordon High, Gordon, Ga.; Perry, Brinson, Waters, Savannah; and Joseph Clisby, Macon.

Constitution Campaign Indorsed.
At the close of the Wednesday afternoon session resolutions were adopted by the convention indorsing the campaign of The Atlanta Constitution against the sale of pistols and indorsing the national oratorical contest on the constitution of United States, which also is being fostered by the Constitution, in the accredited high schools of the state. Other resolutions adopted Wednesday by the convention were indorsement of the recommendation from the executive board for the Georgia branch to extend an invitation to the national congress of parents and teachers to hold their 1925 convention in Atlanta; indorsement of board's recommendation to the Georgia Education association for the teaching of music in the state's public schools with credits; the recommendation of a home demonstration agent in every county in the state and resolutions of sorrow over the death of Mrs. Milton Higgins, former national president.

Conferences held by the various departments of the state organization occupied the Wednesday morning and afternoon sessions of the convention. The conferences were presided over by the department directors. Splendid and progressive reports given by the chairmen of the departments featured the conferences.

Special Speakers.
Mrs. George Howson, of Atlanta, state director of public welfare, presented as special speakers for the welfare conference. Alfred Fleming, supervisor conservation department of the national board of fire underwriters and Miss Ann L. Gallagher, of the state board of health. Mr. Fleming spoke on "Protecting Children in Existing School Buildings From Loss of Life by Fire." Mr. Fleming said "nine out of ten school buildings in the United States are veritable fire traps. He urged the mothers to see that when new buildings are built in their respective school communities they are planned by first-class architects and that all fire units of the building are fire-proof. Miss Gallagher presented the plan of the little mothers' league and the mothers' classes. Burr Blackburn, executive secretary of social agencies, outlined "the children's bill of rights" at the welfare conference.

Dr. Peyton Jacobs, dean of the school of education, Mercer university, and Professor Joseph Robinson, also of Mercer, gave instructive talks during the conference of the education department, directed by Mrs. Charles Hilburn, of Macon.

In the conference of the home service department, directed by Mrs. Lawrence Kelly, of Savannah, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, president of the Georgia Education association, was the principal speaker. During the conference of the public health department, presided over by the chairman, Phil Campbell, of Athens, Miss Erna Proctor, noted health educator of Athens, was introduced. Miss Proctor gave a talk of extreme value to the delegates on the necessity of a health program for the average school. Dr. T. D. Walker, of Macon, spoke on the "Mental Health of the Child," at the health conference.

Social affairs featuring the convention Wednesday included the publicity breakfast held at the Dempsey hotel, at which Mrs. Harry Gibson, state chairman and sectional manager of publicity, presided; the all fresco luncheon at the home of Mrs. Randolph Jones, Jr., in Shirley Hills at which the Macon P. T. A. council was hostess, and an elaborate tea at 5:30 o'clock at Wesleyan college.

Theater Guild Junior To Meet.
The newly organized junior division of the Theater guild of Atlanta will hold its second meeting on Friday afternoon, April 17, at 3 o'clock in the ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel.

The initial meeting of the junior organization was held three weeks ago with a large attendance of representative children of Atlanta, and the committee is looking forward to a greater number being present on Friday.

All children between the ages of 4 and 15 who are interested in the drama, music or dancing are cordially invited to come. And parents who wish their children identified with an organization of this kind, where the environments are of the most artistic nature, are urged to have them come and join.

All meetings and productions are supervised and directed by professionals of wide experience in the development of the child drama, and who have specialized in the training of children along these lines.

The junior's first offering will be a well-known children's classic so dear to the hearts of all. This lovely little play will be the topic of discussion at this meeting and plans outlined for an early production of same. The committee in charge of this division is composed of the following: Mrs. W. J. Davis, Mrs. J. S. Cook, Mrs. Joseph H. Reed, Mrs. Joe Bracewell, Mrs. Charles E. La Fontaine, Mrs. Preston Wilhoit.

Entire South Represented in Southern Art League Exhibit

The Southern Art League exhibition in the Biltmore hotel arcade is bringing many genial friends together who are exchanging opinions on the work and expressing surprise and pleasure at the excellence of the paintings and statuary.

"I went abroad to buy my pictures," said Mrs. Fred Kauffman, a cultured Atlanta woman, "not knowing I could buy such as these at home, and at prices so astonishingly reasonable! For some of them, not more than one would pay for an Easter bonnet."

The entire south is represented in this exhibit, from Louisville and Washington to Houston and Tampa, comprising nearly two hundred canvases.

Creditable Work.

The following article on the merits of the exhibit was prepared by Mrs. Lawrence W. Griswold, formerly of New York, but now a resident of Atlanta. She is the sister of Mrs. Louis Saint Gaudens, herself an artist of note, through whom Mrs. Griswold was intimately associated with the art life of New York for a number of years. She served as assistant to the treasurer of the Society of American Artists at the American Fine Arts Galleries and "Art Students' league" and through her intimate knowledge of pictures is particularly fitted to give the following criticism of the collection.

"Every picture is creditable work and is worthy of consideration and of mention as is easily understood when it is known that a competent jury selected every one. In consideration of the fact, however, that the

Miss Kate Cleveland will have charge of the refreshments.

Falstaff Is Presented At Opera Musicales.
"Falstaff," the comic opera by Verdi and Boito, was interpreted at the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ada Evelyn Lewis, one of Atlanta's most charming dramatic readers, interpreted the play, while Mrs. G. E. Cooper, mezzo soprano; Mrs. J. T. Daniels, contralto; and Walter Herbert, baritone, impersonated the roles in song. Mrs. Charles Chalmers, finished pianist, was accompanist for the operatic.

The story runs in a comic vein, as written by Verdi in his eightieth year, of "Sir John Falstaff," who is a fat, vainglorious old rook, believing that every woman he comes in contact with is fascinated with him.

Mrs. G. E. Cooper sang beautifully in the role of Mrs. Alice Ford, and Mrs. Daniels, with her rich contralto voice, interpreted the part of Mrs. Quickly. Walter Herbert delighted the audience with his splendid baritone, singing the role of Master Ford, the wealthy burgher. Mrs. Charles Chalmers accompanied several beautiful selections of the opera as taken from the records of the victrola. She is a delightful artist and has been the accompanist throughout the entire season of operatic musicales given at the woman's club. Mrs. Ada Evelyn Lewis was charming in the dramatic interpretation and always pleases her audience with her grace and lovely personality. The stage setting was arranged by Mrs. T. E. Simmons. This was the most interesting season of operatic musicales given in Atlanta with Mrs. W. O. Chears, chairman of music.

Mrs. Moore Will Address Round Table.
Mrs. Ordine Barnett Moore, of Birmingham, Ala., will lecture this evening before the Atlanta Theosophical society. The subject will be "The Law of Growth."

Those who heard Mrs. Moore on her last visit will remember the thoroughness and charm with which she presented her subject.

Mrs. Moore is the editor and publisher for the national magazine of the Order of the Round Table, "The Round Table Quest," and she will speak at 4 o'clock before the tables now organized in Atlanta.

Mrs. Moore is an Atlanta girl and since her marriage has made her home in Birmingham.

The regular meeting of the Atlanta Theosophical society for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock was postponed until Thursday evening owing to the fact that Mrs. Moore could not be here on Wednesday.

The public is cordially invited to meet Mrs. Moore. Admission free.

Mrs. Moore will explain the organization of the round table and its ideals so that anyone interested may form a table and join in the international activities.

The round table is an international organization of young people banded together for service. It was founded in England in 1908 by Lieutenant George Herbert Whyte, and is now established in 28 countries, including America, England, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Sweden, Spain, Switzerland, Australia, Egypt, South America. It is governed by a senior council, composed of the chief knights of the various countries which meet each year in London, and by national councils in other countries where it is working.

The round table holds up before its knights and companions the figure of the Perfect Spiritual King, and endeavors to inspire them to work in His service. They are free to take as their king any great figure who embodies for them all that is heroic, noble and pure in life, but many of the members take as their hero the same divine figure who inspired King Arthur and his knights—the figure of the Christ. Mrs. Moore Will Address Round Table.

Mrs. Ordine Barnett Moore, of Birmingham, Ala., will lecture this evening before the Atlanta Theosophical society. The subject will be "The Law of Growth."

Those who heard Mrs. Moore on her last visit will remember the thoroughness and charm with which she presented her subject.

Mrs. Moore is the editor and publisher for the national magazine of the Order of the Round Table, "The Round Table Quest," and she will speak at 4 o'clock before the tables now organized in Atlanta.

Mrs. Moore is an Atlanta girl and since her marriage has made her home in Birmingham.

The regular meeting of the Atlanta Theosophical society for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock was postponed until Thursday evening owing to the fact that Mrs. Moore could not be here on Wednesday.

The public is cordially invited to meet Mrs. Moore. Admission free.

Mrs. Moore will explain the organization of the round table and its ideals so that anyone interested may form a table and join in the international activities.

The round table is an international organization of young people banded together for service. It was founded in England in 1908 by Lieutenant George Herbert Whyte, and is now established in 28 countries, including America, England, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Sweden, Spain, Switzerland, Australia, Egypt, South America. It is governed by a senior council, composed of the chief knights of the various countries which meet each year in London, and by national councils in other countries where it is working.

The round table holds up before its knights and companions the figure of the Perfect Spiritual King, and endeavors to inspire them to work in His service. They are free to take as their king any great figure who embodies for them all that is heroic, noble and pure in life, but many of the members take as their hero the same divine figure who inspired King Arthur and his knights—the figure of the Christ. The motto of the order is: "Live Pure, Speak True, Right Wrong, Follow the King."

The round table is divided into four degrees: Knights, squires, companions and pages. Knights must be 21 years of age or more; squires, 18 to 21; companions, 11 to 18; pages, 8 to 11. Our civilization today is greatly in need of a band of young people with high ideals of chivalry and honor. Twentieth century wrongs need righting, as did the wrongs of King Arthur's day.

Mrs. Vida Reed Stone, Los Angeles, Calif., is the chief knight of America.

Orpheus Club To Hold Meeting.
Miss Anna Mae Farmer announces the monthly meeting of the Orpheus Music club in Wesley Memorial building, Saturday evening, April 18.

At this meeting Mrs. Alma Darby, Miss Nellie Elbertson, Miss Ellison, Miss Grace Doneboe and Master Roland Tomlinson will be admitted into membership. Miss Velma Mason will supervise the decorations in the club colors, yellow and violet.

The meeting will open with a piano solo by Miss Anna Mae Farmer, "The Eagle," by MacDowell.

Miss Inez Perzantis and Miss Amanda Snead will act as captains for the concert in musical terms, with Miss Mary Louise Parham as director.

Miss Farmer will speak on "Confidence," the quality for the month.

As a necessity for progress in music, but confidence without egotism. The members will tell in what ways they have tried to practice confidence and the result of same in their studies.

Miss Kate Cleveland will have charge of the refreshments.

Falstaff Is Presented At Opera Musicales.
"Falstaff," the comic opera by Verdi and Boito, was interpreted at the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ada Evelyn Lewis, one of Atlanta's most charming dramatic readers, interpreted the play, while Mrs. G. E. Cooper, mezzo soprano; Mrs. J. T. Daniels, contralto; and Walter Herbert, baritone, impersonated the roles in song. Mrs. Charles Chalmers, finished pianist, was accompanist for the operatic.

The story runs in a comic vein, as written by Verdi in his eightieth year, of "Sir John Falstaff," who is a fat, vainglorious old rook, believing that every woman he comes in contact with is fascinated with him.

Mrs. G. E. Cooper sang beautifully in the role of Mrs. Alice Ford, and Mrs. Daniels, with her rich contralto voice, interpreted the part of Mrs. Quickly. Walter Herbert delighted the audience with his splendid baritone, singing the role of Master Ford, the wealthy burgher. Mrs. Charles Chalmers accompanied several beautiful selections of the opera as taken from the records of the victrola. She is a delightful artist and has been the accompanist throughout the entire season of operatic musicales given at the woman's club. Mrs. Ada Evelyn Lewis was charming in the dramatic interpretation and always pleases her audience with her grace and lovely personality. The stage setting was arranged by Mrs. T. E. Simmons. This was the most interesting season of operatic musicales given in Atlanta with Mrs. W. O. Chears, chairman of music.

Arrangements Completed For State Oratory Finals In Atlanta Next Thursday

Governor To Preside as 12 Contestants Strive for Highest Honor in Georgia Schools.

Arrangements were completed Wednesday for the state oratorical contest which is to be held in Atlanta on April 23rd, next Thursday. Professor J. S. Stewart, of Athens, president of the State High School association, which with The Constitution, is sponsoring the contest in this state, was in Atlanta and called on Governor Walker to acquaint him with the plans for the contest and arrange for the use of the house of representatives at the capitol.

The twelve contestants, high school boys and girls representing the 12 districts and chosen at contests among champions of the different schools in each district, held last week, will gather in the governor's reception room at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. There they will meet the governor and the three members of the state supreme court who are to act as judges at the contest, become acquainted with each other, be photographed by news photographers, etc.

The contest will be held in the house of representatives at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The three judges are Associate Justices S. Price Gilbert, H. Warner Hill and Marcus V. Beck. Governor Walker will preside. Each of the 12 boys and girls will deliver the oration on the federal constitution which was written and prepared by them for this contest.

Two cash prizes will be awarded to winners of first and second place by The Constitution, the first $100 and the second $20. In addition to this, the two winners will be given tickets to the performance of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company in Bioto's "Mefistofele" on Friday night. These tickets are given by H. C. Thorburn, president of Kappa Kappa.

The winner of first prize will represent Georgia at the zone contest to be held in Nashville, Tenn., on May 1, where he or she will compete with the champions of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee. There are seven zones in the United States and the seven winners will go to Washington, D. C., on May 8, where they will compete before President Calvin

Coolidge for the national championship and for the division of $5,000 in prize money offered by the American Bar association, which is sponsoring the national contest. First prize is $2,000; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $450; fifth, $400; sixth, $350; and seventh, $300.

BURGLARS LEAVE COSTLY BAR PIN FOR $16 CASH

Burglars who entered the home of Mr. J. N. Hartley, at 71 Summit avenue, early Wednesday, overlooked the costly bar pin which was left in the house, and left with only $16 in cash, according to reports filed with police. In three other robberies only small losses were reported.

Intruders in the Hartley home entered while Dr. and Mrs. Hartley were entertaining friends at a bridge game. They took the cash from Mrs. G. W. Stephens, of 133 Park Drive, one of the guests, but did not molest Mrs. Hartley's diamond pin which was placed alongside Mrs. Stephens' purse. The grocery store of G. E. Smith, 223 Chapel street, was entered Wednesday morning and 60 pounds of lard, 24 pounds of chewing tobacco and a quantity of candies, cigarettes and groceries were taken.

Mrs. A. Everett, 32 West North avenue, reported the ransacking of rooms in the residence and the loss of jewelry and clothing. Thieves entered this residence before dawn Wednesday, it is said.

A pocketbook containing a small amount of cash was stolen from the reception room of a dentist in a downtown office building Wednesday afternoon. The purse belonged to Miss Margaret Lee Reeves, of 46 East Alabama street.

LUMBER TAX FIGHT WILL OPEN FRIDAY

T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, will go to Macon, Ga., to appear before Judge Malcolm D. Jones, of Bibb superior court, on Friday, in an injunction suit brought by various Georgia lumber companies to stop the state of Georgia from collecting special tax on such concerns.

Gress will represent the state in the hearing before Judge Jones.

BROTHER AND SISTERS IN TRIPLE WEDDING

Cambridge, Mass., April 14.—Wedding bells rang noisily Wednesday for the Pettit family.

Three daughters, Georgiana, Louise and Alexander, were married at a triple wedding.

Dr. Tikhon, head of the Russian Orthodox church, in which he is represented as appealing to all priests and members of the church abroad to cease anti-soviet activities and support the present Russian government was produced in today's Livestock. Following the statement, which is dated April 1 and presented as bearing the signature of Tikhon.

The statement as printed says the Russian government "accords full liberty of conscience and freedom of religious worship to all. It urges Russian priests abroad to abandon all hope of reestablishment of a monarchial regime in Russia, declaring that the soviet government is a real government of the people and peasant 'unshakable and enduring'.

According to the statement, Dr. Tikhon declared that all priests who persist in using their sacred office for political ends will be tried by special concave and if necessary will be excommunicated.

The statement cites Metropolitan Platon, now in the United States, and Metropolitan Antonin, head of the Russian church abroad, for anti-soviet activities, and says Tikhon before his death, April 8, appointed a special commission to investigate them."

OLD LINCOLN COACH FOUND IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., April 15.—The railroad coach in which Lincoln rode to Gettysburg to deliver his famous address on the battlefield in 1863 was found today on a siding in the yards of the Western Maryland railway. The historic, but dilapidated car was discovered by Pennsylvania committee of the Lincoln Highway association that visited Baltimore.

The committee will seek to have the coach taken to Gettysburg and kept as a historical memorial.

The car is a wooden combination passenger and baggage coach and had a stove in the center. At the time it was used by Lincoln and members of the presidential party it was considered one of the road's finest pieces of equipment.

MORTUARY A Word of Comfort.

You will not seem eccentric and conspicuous because of your new conviction that the soul goes on from strength to strength in the spacious fields of eternity, after passing through the gates of death. You will find that this conviction, to which you had given much thought before your sorrow came, is like the very life-blood of multitudes all around you. Now that your deep experience has opened the eyes of your understanding, and you speak their language, you will know a comradeship which was closed to you before.

$4,000,000 POWER STOCK ISSUE ASKED

Petition for authority to issue $4,000,000 in first preferred cumulative stock, 7 per cent, series of 1925, was filed Wednesday by the Georgia Railway & Power company with the Georgia public service commission.

The proceeds of the stock are to be used to increase the company for the cost of constructing and acquiring additions, extensions, betterments and improvements to the property leased to the company, or for any other purpose, it is stated.

The proposed issue has been ratified by the stockholders and approved by the directors of the company, it is stated, and application made to the secretary of state for an amendment to the company's charter to permit the proposed increase in capital stock.

The petition was signed by Preston S. Arkwright, president of the company, a hearing will be held by the commission at a date yet to be set.

The proposed stock series will be redeemable at the option of the company at any time on or after January 1, 1935, at 115 per cent of the par value.

Statement Ascribed To Deceased Patriarch Praises Soviet Rule

Moscow, April 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The statement ascribed to the late statement of the late Dr. Tikhon, head of the Russian Orthodox church, in which he is represented as appealing to all priests and members of the church abroad to cease anti-soviet activities and support the present Russian government was produced in today's Livestock. "Golf Widowhood" Plea Fails To Move Judge Who Also Likes Game

Chicago, April 15.—"Golf widowhood" was unsuccessfully pleaded to day as ground for divorce. The petitioner said her husband, though a hopeless "duffer" with a wretched drive, spent most of his time on the links.

"Golf is not yet grounds for divorce," ruled Judge Joseph J. Sabath, in denying the petition.

"It would be a dangerous precedent. I play golf myself."

OPERATION PERFORMED ON DEMOCRATIC "WHIP"

Washington, April 15.—Representative William A. Oldfield, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic congressional committee and the party's "whip" in the house, was operated on late today for acute appendicitis. His condition tonight was described as "satisfactory."

The operation followed an X-ray examination, and physicians asserted afterwards it had disclosed that an abscess had developed, requiring drainage. He was on the operating table about an hour.

Mr. Oldfield returned here a week ago from Arkansas, and had been ill several days before he was stricken last night, when his temperature mounted to 104.

Dragon Denied Dying Girl Aid, Physician Says

Indianapolis, April 15.—Miss Madge Oberholzer, the 20-year-old girl who poisoned herself following an alleged assault by Dr. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, died because Stephenson refused her medical attention, according to Dr. John Kingsbury, the girl's physician.

"Miss Oberholzer took the poison in a hotel in Hammond, Ind., where she was visiting her father, a physician, the physician testified at the coroner's inquest Wednesday. "When this was discovered they loaded her into an automobile and rushed back to Indianapolis. The girl was in agony throughout the journey. She told me that she pleaded with Stephenson to stop and get a doctor, but that he refused."

Stephenson and two other men are already under indictment charged with kidnapping and assaulting the girl. Whether these charges will be dropped and an indictment for murder sought will be determined largely upon the findings of the inquest, it is understood.

ALLEGED "FIREBUG" SOUGHT BY POLICE

Roy Elder, young negro, is being held by police on charges of having set fire to the residence of O. A. Cohen, at 501 South Pryor street, as the result of a blaze in the basement of the Cohen home, occupied by the negro.

Cohen told investigating officers that he and the negro quarreled Wednesday and the latter asserted he would "burn Cohen out."

Only slight damage was caused by the fire.

SMOKE ABATEMENT OFFICIALS ACTIVE

A meeting of steam boiler firemen employed in Atlanta manufacturing plants is scheduled to be held in the mayor's office at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight, when the weekly league will be given by A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Smoke Abatement league will precede the firemen's class.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD!

This amount will be paid for evidence sufficient to convict anyone breaking limbs or blossoms off the dogwood trees in Druid Hills. These trees are wonderfully beautiful in their setting, but when the blossoms are broken off by vandals the blooms wilt at once. We want the blossoms left on the trees for people to look at.
